Teaching at home, or one child at a time

Tutors, nannies and homeschool parents: the homeschool section of Peabody Teach has state laws, plans, records and curriculum.

What is coming

Classroom tools are not built yet. They are planned: a class roster, each student's level and practice in one view, and printable records, with no ads and no student data sold. Until then every story, game and sheet above is free and works without an account.

Questions educators ask

Can I run a whole class on Peabody?

Not yet. There is no class roster or teacher view today. Students can read, play and practise on their own devices, and you can print sheets and cheat sheets for the room. Class tools are planned.

Is it free?

Yes, free through the end of 2026, with no sign-up. Free through the end of 2026, with no sign-up.

Are there ads or student data to worry about?

There are no ads. A child can start with no account, and the privacy and AI pages say what is kept and what is not asked.
