Picking one for your child

Every story here is sorted by Peabody's reading level, which is worked out from the text and never from the child. A lower level means shorter sentences and easier words, so start where your child can read about half of a story alone and read the rest together. If it is too hard, go down a level. If they race through it, go up.

Not holiday stories

The library holds no story of Thanksgiving itself. These are stories about family, kindness, food and home, the things the day is about, so each is a good one to read aloud at the table or after dinner.

For the youngest readers

34 are at levels 0 to 4: Dad Naps, Sip, Sip, Sip, Pat, Pat, Pat, A Dim Man, A Tan Map, Tap in the Dim and more. These suit a child just learning to read, or a grown-up reading aloud.

For growing readers

22 are at levels 5 to 9: Pim and the Mitten, The Roar in the Cupboard, Piccola, Mia and the Kite, The Moon Follows Me, Ruby and the Rainy Picnic and more. Longer stories, with more going on in each one.

For confident readers

29 are at levels 10 to 18: Where Words Grow, A Hard Nut to Crack, Odo Gets Measured Up, Blue Wall, Yellow Wall, Urashima Taro, Baucis and Philemon and more. These are for children who read chapters and longer passages on their own.

Reading them together

A grown-up can read any of these aloud from a phone or tablet, one page at a time, and a child who reads can take over. Where a device can speak, the story page has a Read to me button that reads each page aloud in the device's own voice. Every story page has a Print link too, if you would rather read on paper.

Questions parents ask

What reading level are these Thanksgiving week stories?

They run across levels 0 to 18. Peabody works each level out from the story's text: how long the sentences are, how many words fit on a screen and how common the words are. The table shows the level of every story, so you can pick a lower or a higher one.

Are any of these stories scary?

None carries a mark above gentle, and none is on the scary stories shelf. The short description on each story's page says what it covers, so read it first if your child is sensitive.

Do the stories cost anything?

No. Every story on this page is free to read through the end of 2026, with no account and no card.
